CIV GAME

CIVGAME

- Competitive year-long simulation/experience
- Learn history by *doing history
- CivTeams face the dilemmas & decisions of real states:
 - How do we build a strong economy? What do we spend our $ on? What kind of government should we adopt? Should we get involved in other nations' problems? Make alliances? Wage war?
- How do we build a successful state?
- Cash incentive for the "most successful" state

CIVGAME NOW

- Establish your team (1-5 people).
- Name your civilization.

- REQUIREMENTS:

- Your civilization's name must be an amalgamation of at least two mythological figures.
 - ex: Odin (Norse god of wisdom and war)
 - ex. Nike (Greek goddess of victory)
 - Amalgamation: ODINIK or NIKODI or NIDIN or ODKE

CIVGAME NOW

- Name your civilization.

- Use electronics to search "gods of ____" (ex. peace, fire).
- Select at least two gods/deities, and construct a name.
- On a notecard:
 - a) List your CIVTEAM members;
 - b) Write the name of your civilization;
 - c) Explain the derivation of your name (where does it come from?).

CIVGAME NOW

- Task A: Design your civilization's crest.
 - Your crest should communicate something about the values/principles of your civilization.

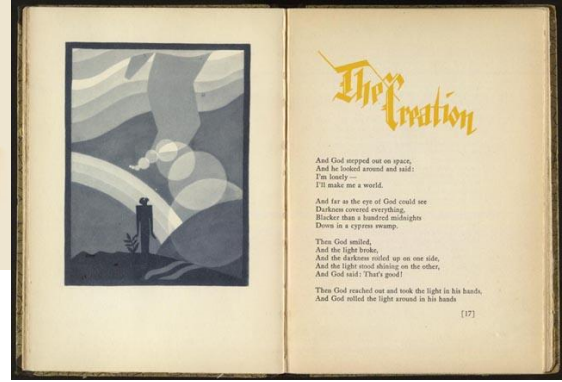

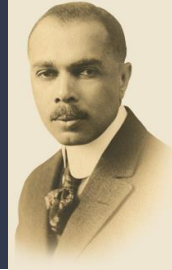

CIVGAME NOW

- Task B: Create a map of the world's regions.
 - Build your team's geographic knowledge.
 - Get a blank map of the world. Find, shade, and label each of these 12 world regions (different colors/shades):
 - North America, Central America, South America, Africa, Europe, Western Asia, South Asia, Central Asia, North Asia, East Asia, Southeast Asia, Oceania & Australia
 - Hint: Search each region in www.wikipedia.com

CIVGAME NOW

- Task C: Write a creation myth.

- How does your civilization say the world/life came to be?

- EXAMPLE: Click on the video above and listen to a reading of James Weldon Johnson's 1920 poem, "The Creation."

- Then, write the creation myth that your civilization tells.

- Pretend you are one of the wise elders of your clan/tribe.

What story do you tell the youth to help them understand how the world and all its living things were formed?

- There are no rules. Be original and creative.
